"Growing Canadian platform"

"The Axiomm portfolio of products and formulations support the mass production and distribution of 2.0 and 3.0 products including cannabis-infused beverages, topicals, edibles and water-soluble powders.

"Adding the Axiomm facilities and team to our platform further provides Embark the tools and expertise needed to bring competitive products to market and capitalise on this massive 2.0 market opportunity."

"Eager to launch" mature suite of products

Axiomm chief executive officer Curtis Lifso said: "Axiomm's staff is eager to launch its mature suite of products and commercial scale manufacturing capabilities under the Embark platform in the coming weeks.

"Our existing portfolio will address the demand for compelling consumer products desired by the modern cannabis consumer.

"It will also provide B2B clients with robust inputs upon which to base their edibles, topicals and beverage product development.

"The Axiomm team is equally excited to further expand its R&D initiative at its Calgary facility to build upon the existing product portfolio."

Embark Nano staff will operate a production facility in Calgary, Alberta and produce cannabinoid-free formulations for its Tennessee joint venture as well as supply formulations for Embark's Delta facility.
