

the historic Tokusei mine. The company said it will also review examine anomalies south of the Tokusei mine and stream anomalies highlighted by the Metal Mining Agency of Japan on the eastern side of the project.

At the Hakuryu project, exploration will include mapping and surface sampling at the previously mined Konomai mine. At the Sanru project, gold and rock chip sampling is expected, followed by an investigation of other historical workings and drill targets will be identified for 2020.

Proust said that the Japan prospects are validated by the company's strategic alliance and strategic investors, with the focus now on making discoveries.

Lithocap projects largely completed

The company also provided an update on its Lithocap projects, located on the islands of Hokkaido, Honshu and Kyushu.

The four gold and copper-gold exploration targets (Eboshi, Kobui, Minamikayabe, Kamitsue) are being developed as part of a strategic alliance with First Quantum Minerals.

Fieldwork, mapping, soil and rock sampling was largely completed by January 2019, and results are now being reviewed. First Quantum Minerals will decide shortly which projects will need other survey methods to better define drill targets.
